What are No-Code Solutions?

No-Code Solutions are applications built using the SalesTim app and its provisioning and governance engine. At the core of the SalesTim Platform, Teams Templates are a combination of two elements: - A team template, describing the structure and contents of a team. - A governance policy that may include security and compliance rules.

Through these teams templates, end-users can create ready-to-use and full-featured teams, customized to perform a specific business activity, such as: - Project management - Proposal management - Crisis management - Recruitment process - Department-level collaboration

How to create them?

This question is already largely covered in our Help Center, especially for the most basic use cases.

But if you need more advanced capabilities, we've got you covered. Here is a list of advanced capabilities from the SalesTim Platform that you can leverage to create more advanced templates: - Create advanced Naming Conventions to keep your Microsoft Teams environment clean and manageable. - Create advanced rules of Audience Targeting to selectively show or hide your teams templates to specific users or groups. - Create Approval Workflows to control team creation in your environment.
